NEW-YORK ATHLETIC CLUB TROUBLES.

The New-York Athletic Club's latest wrangle occurred at the annual election of officers on Tuesday night. Some cons had broken open Secretary Frank D. Just as the motion was put to have the Board of Geverners order a thorough investigation, the retiring president. Walter G. Schuyler, arose and said that he was the culprit. Mr. Schuyler thought that there were papers of his in Sturges's desk, and he opened the desk to get them. The matter was then dropped and many of the members said yesterday that no further action would be found to meet the demands of the creditors. BONDED GOODS REMOVED WITHOUT A PERMIT. Complaint was made to Surveyor Lyon a few days ago that employes of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, as well as other railroad companies were violating the law in regard to the transportation of goods in bond. The charge was that the scals on a car that arrived here from Buffalo bad been broker in the night and some organs removed from the car to a vessel before the Custom House permit arrived. Surveyor Lyon referred the complaint to Acting Col-Couch, who turned it over to the commission now investigating the customs service on behalf of the Treasury Department. The commission is composed of Solicitor Hepburn and Special Treasury Agents Whitehead and Chance. They examined officials of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad yesterday on the affair, and will transmit their findings to Deputy Collector Thomas N. Hunt to-day. It was reported that the commission found that this was an old effence, and that railroad officials admitted that the permit came, simply to expedite business. There seemed to be a difference of opinion among also as to the proper penalty. One man held that a fine of $500 could be imposed on the company, and another thought that this violation of the law could be punished by imprisoning the guilty employe for not less than six months, and no more than two years. A less than six months, and no more than two years. A third man said that the matter was somewhat technical, and that in view of the immense number of cars arriving here with bonded merchandise it was almost impossible to enforce the law, which in his opinion was a useless statute. These opinions were unofficial, and the exact law will be determined to-day.

Surveyor Lyon simply pointed to the fact that he was making the best possible use of the limited number of men at his disposal, and did not have enough men to attend to this branch of his department.

CAPTAIN O'CONNOR ON TRIAL.

MR. BECKER AND HIS SON WERE NOT STRIKERS, AND THEY VIGOROUSLY RESENTED ARREST.

Police Captain Richard O'Connor, of the Oak-st. squad, was on trial before the Commissioners at Headquarters yesterday for an alleged assault upon two men in Third-ave, on the evening of October 11, when he was in command of the East Eighty-eighth-st. There had been a boycott at Edelstein's bak ery, No. 1,519 Third-ave. In the afternoon of Oc-tober 16 a number of striking bakers had been lounging about the place, warning customers away from it and making insulting motions to Intimidate the women employed in the bakery. As Captain O'Connor was passing the place in the evening he was accosted by Herman Bayersdofer, a lawyer, who spoke of the actions of the strikers and asked why the police could not protect Edelstein. Henrietta Reese, one of the Joung women employed there, went out on the side walk to tell what she knew of the annoyance. Cap tain O'Couner told her to point out the men to the policeman on post and have them arrested. Just their she pointed to F. C. J. Becker, of No. 220 East Eighty first-st, and his son, who were passing, and "There are two of them now," Becker is a n facturer of flavoring extracts. He and his son had out of the city fishing nearly all day. They were ignorant of the boycott, and happened to be passing the bakery as they were taking a walk after supper. The young woman's mistake in pointing them out as boycotters led to a fight. Captain O'Connor, who was not in uniform, stepped forward to stop them.

The Beckers testifled yesterday that the young man was seized by the collar and nearly pulled off his feet by the captain. Not knowing his assailant, the young man struck him in the face. Captain O'Connor struck back. Mr. Becker tried to drag his son away. Then Policeman Keating, in uniform, rushed to the aid of the captain, with club uplifted. Captain O'Connor said to Keating: "Don't hit him! Take him to the station house," Keating led the old man to the station and Captain O'Connor went ahead of them with the son.

Both the Beckers declared that after they had been placed in front of the desk in the station Captain O'Connor struck the old man in the face with his fist, inflicting a bruise which caused the fiesh to swell.

Two young men who witnessed part of the fight in Third-ave, and followed the Beckers to the station said that the prisoners made no resistance and that the old man did not strike at the captain.

Captain O'Connor testified in part as follows: "Whe Captain O'Connor testified in part as follows: "When the Beckers were pointed out by the young woman as boycotters, I called to them and stepped forward quickly to stop them. Before I could take hold of either of them the young man struck me in the face, I showed my shield, and said I was an officer, but the old man hit me over the head with an unbrella and the young man struck out again. I fought in self-defence, striking both of them with my fist. We had a lively tussle for a few seconds. Then Policeman Keating ran up and caught hold of Mr. Becker. Seeing the officer's club raised, I told him not to strike, but to take the old man struck at me with his umbrella, and I had to tell Keating to hold him back. I did not strike either of the prisoners in the station."

Polleeman Keating and other witnesses corroborated Captain O'Connor's story. Decision was reserved.

HE SEEMED ANXIOUS TO FIND EDWARD KELLY

When the doors of Eugene Kelly's banking establishment, at No. 45 Exchange Place, were opened yesterday at 8 a. m., a typical "tough" made his appearance and asked the janitor where Mr. Kelly was. He was told that the banker was down South, whereupon he inquired for Edward Kelly, Mr. Kelly's son. The rough was told that Edward was at home, and would be in the office later. So the man hung around the office until about "Are youse Edward Kelly!" asked the rough, as he swaggered up to Mr. Kelly.

"Yes." replied the young man.

An army of cierks poured out, and elected the man who was hunting for Edward Kelly. The officer escorted him to the Tombs, where he said that his name was Charles McCarthy, aged thirty-four years. He made a long, rambling statement, from which it appeared that he had served terms of imprisonment in a Catholic prohe had served terms of impressions the had served terms of impressions and in Sing Sing and on Blackwell's Island, having been sent to the penitentiary for robbing a man by the name of Edward Kelly. THE FIGHT FOR BARONDESS.

HE WAS SEEN IN NEWARK ON SATURDAY.

AN ATTEMPT TO BE MADE TO PROVE ALIBIS ALSO FOR EIGHT OF THE ARRESTED

The followers of Joseph Barondess, the Anarchist eader of the cloakmakers, who is now under arrest for neiting members of the Cloakmakers and Operators' Union to violence and riot, are much excited over the turn affairs have taken with them, and bitterly accuse the cloak manufacturers, Inspector Byrnes and the reporters of a conspiracy to break up their union. The striking cloakmakers are now acting much like a flock without a shepherd, and are doing nothing but de-nounce the police for their infringement on the "rights of American citizens," many of whom cannot speak a dozen words of English. Affiliated with the cloakmakers is the Cloakcutters'

Union. The cutters ruct in Pythagoras Hall yesterday and passed a resolution to the effect that the cutters would do all in their power to help the operators, but deprecated any violence. Arthur II. Dale, chairman of the executive loard of the Cloakentters' Union, who is now taking the lead also in the Cloakenakers' Union, and is collecting evidence for Barondess, said

But what can you expect of a lot of desperate men whose bread and butter is being taken away from them? Mr. Dale and other union men think that Inspector Byrnes intends to "railroad" Barondess to jail and then to break up the unions in the cl akmaking trude. outrage on Greenbaum, in Jamaica, Mr. Dale says he can prove that nine of them were not in Jamaica at the time of the riot, but he acknowledges that three of them were, and says they will have to stand the

The prisoners are en-deavoring to create the impression that they are indifferent over their arrest, and during Wednesday time singing Polish songs. Justice Hendrickson was more warrants for the arrest of those who are still at large who participated in the outrage at Herman ome up for hearing before Justice Hendrickson to-morrow morning at 9:30. Before that time it is thought that counsel for the prisoners will apply to the supreme Court for writs of habeas corpus ordering the agreeme Court for writs of habeas corpus ordering the aminta authorities to show cause why the prisoners hould not be admitted to bail.

Greenbaum's house is still guarded by three contables. Greenbaum's little son, Willie, who was adily humed with vitriol, is still suffering much path, be vitriol burned into one of the chid's cars so adily that a portion of the car has been caten away and the child will lose his hearing in that car, irrenbaum is fitting up his workshop asain and except to resume work mixt Monday morning. The times in New York for whom he worked, have marianteed to give him full protection, and it is not active that the strikers will attempt to repeat the

A rumor circulated on Wednesday night that a party of the strikers from New York intended to go to Jamaica and attempt to resone the prisoner caused considerable uncerliness in the town. Prominent citizens who feel indignant over the outrage remained up tail 2 late flour and were prepared to give the strikers a warm reception if they appeared.

THE TRADE IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 12 (special).—Hiportant lines of long wheat were sold to day; and the British cables were an easier. "The Price Current," however, in a reference to the Government report of last Tuesday, an casier. The Frie Carriers and caser, and that it was likely to be regarded more and more builts alv. Paris and Berlin cables closed at an advance. The result was that wheat was strong all day and closed at an advance of 112 cents over yesterday. This, too, was in spite of the news from Paris that a very important bank there was in diffaculty. May opened at $103.5, sold to $103.12 and closed at $100.15. The big Northwestern receipts, 357 cars, as well as the announcement by "The trice Current" that all returns from the wheat crop "reflected a continuance of good promise for wheat," were without any effect. Corn advanced another cent and closed almost at the top. May sold from 62.3-8 to 63.1-2 and closed at 63.1-4. The receipts, 322 cars, were larger than expected; and the estimates for Friday, 400, were something of a surprise. The big figures brought about no reaction. Cash corn was up a cent. Outs followed corn, as usual, May opening at 53.3-8-53.3-2 and closed at 63.1-3 and closed at 93.10-5 and sold between $10.5 and $11.25 and closed at $11.15. May laid opened at $3.35, sold between $6.22 and $5.40 and closed at $1.25 and closed at $1.25 and closed at $1.15. May laid opened at $6.36. May ribs opened at $5.25, sold between $6.22 and $5.40. OIL MARKETS.
